(54) Title: METHOD FOR SHARING CONTENTS USING THE WEBDVD TECHNOLOGY

(57) Abstract: The present invention provides a method of sharing contents among multiple users on the Internet, using the WebDVD technology. According to one embodiment of the invention, a method for sharing contents on the Internet is provided. In this method, a user accesses a web server via a WebDVD player/recorder and uploads contents to the web server for sharing them with other users. The user can view contents uploaded to the web server by himself or others, via the WebDVD player/recorder and selectively recording the uploaded contents via the player/recorder. The user may also selectively edit the uploaded contents via the player/recorder and submit updated contents to the web server for sharing with other users. Alternatively, the user may use his WebDVD player/recorder as a web server and enable other users to access his player/recorder to view, modify or update the shared contents.
